Editorial Policy:

- We are aiming to ensure the best possible diversity of publications' subjects, of authors' names and of their geographical distribution.
- All submissions and queries should be sent electronically to the Managing Editor, by the Corresponding Author, possibly by one and same e-mail address.
- Although for the first stage of reviewing a PDF file is enough, the authors should be ready to provide ASAP upon acceptance, finally revised versions of the LaTeX source and the figures' files (if any) together with the final PDF file and the TCA.
- Submissions are considered only if prepared in LaTeX format, with extreme care, and allowing to generate internal and reference linking. The authors contribute in this process by making all the references complete, correct and properly structured.
- Peer-reviewing. At least two anonymous reviewers are appointed from the list of Editorial Board and invited external experts. The authors can suggest some possible reviewers among the close experts on the topic, but these could not be taken in mind.
- The authors should take care to follow strictly the Instructions for Authors and the FCAA Template (provided in Author's Kit).
- Submitting a manuscript to FCAA indicates by default a tacit understanding that the paper is authors' original work, and is not published or under consideration in other journals. Once the paper is accepted, the corresponding author should fill in and sign the TCA (Transfer of Copyright Agreement) and send it by e-mail (scanned copy) or by fax to the Managing Editor.
- All authors are responsible for the manuscript's contents and agree in advance to authorize a corresponding author to act on their behalf. He/she is responsible to inform the co-authors on the manuscript status, to check the proofreading and to provide the co-authors with the soft Author's Copy (PDF) of the publication.
- The accepted papers, in their final proof-read version, are published online at SpringerLink in Online First service. Once a manuscript appears on Springer's website, it is considered as published.
- After publication, the corresponding author is notified by e-mail and receives a PDF file with the published version of the manuscript, for authors' noncommercial use. The authors are requested to refer to their papers as published in "Fract. Calc. Appl. Anal." Vol/ No/ Year/ pp., as is the journal identified in the world databases.
